Details

The Deuter Quantum 70 + 10 Hybrid Travel Pack is for the world travelling person that considers themselves a bit adventurous. A typical travel pack, with all its bulk and basic harness, simply won't do. You want to go off the beaten track.

The main compartment has top-access, as with most hiking rucksacks, as well as front-access, so you feel a bit more civilised when unpacking in a hotel room. Conveniently clipping onto the front is a handy daypack which features a myriad of pockets to keep everything you need for a day trip organised. The main pack has stretch side pockets for holding water bottles, a lid and two hip belt pockets to keep those necessities easily accessible, and a host of other features usually only found on Deuter's specialist trekking packs. Most important, is the Aircontact harness system - you're going to remain comfortable even on a long hike with a heavy load.

You won't be restricted to the city with the Quantum 70+10. This is a fully-spec'd rucksack that is just as at home on the streets of Berlin as it is in on the Camino de Santiago.
