Details

If you're an off the beaten track traveller, you'll want to make sure that you'll have access to safe water to drink on your journey. The LifeStraw Go Bottle allows you to turn microbiologically contaminated water into safe and clean drinking water from the source.

The microfilter process removes 99.9999% of waterborne bacteria and 99.9% of waterborne protozoan parasites while also reducing muddiness. This bottle doesn't require power or batteries and, best of all, by purchasing a Lifestraw product you are supporting a company with a mission to supply safe drinking water to school children and people living in underdeveloped countries across the world.

The ultra-light bottle won't add much weight to your load, is BPA and chemical free, and can be attached to your pack so for easy transport.
