Details

These heavy-duty marquee trace springs were designed by Supa Peg in 1998 specifically to cater for the need to combine a trace spring with large sand or pressed steel pegs.

The large eye is big enough to accommodate large 490mm sand pegs and iron angle stakes and is made from heavy-duty heat-treated steel making it best suited for large shelters.

Using a trace spring ensures tension is maintained on your shelter and allows movement during high winds to mitigate the instance of damage occurring to the shelter.
