

Columbia Plains Butte WP Men's Shoe

Details

On cool, misty or rainy days when the weather is perfect for a crisp day hike, pop on a pair of the waterproof and cushioned Plains Butte WP Shoes from Columbia.

The low shoes have a mixture of leather and textile upper, with a plush tongue and collar for extra comfort. Breathability is provided by the hydrophobic lining, while the midsole adds cushioning with high energy return. You'll also be shielded from any splashes or puddles you encounter as these shoes have a seam sealed membrane bootie for protection. These shoes also feature a non-marking rubber outsole that'll provide secure grip on the trail.

The Columbia Plains Butte WP Shoe are perfect for light day hikes, morning strolls, or even for casual days where you need extra support while you run errands.

Ideal for: light hiking, walking and casual walking
 Seam-sealed membrane bootie construction
