Details

A long day hike calls for an appropriate gear carrier such as the Futura 24 SL from Deuter.

If you find that traditional packs are a little too large for your frame, this slimline design will accommodate your shorter back length and narrower shoulders. This top-loading pack features the Aircomfort Sencic back system. This is made up of comfortable padded shoulder straps, ergonomic hip fins for distributing weight, a flexible steel frame with a mesh netback for ventilation and lumbar pads for easier carrying.

In terms of other features, this pack also has a rain cover for protecting your gear, load adjustment straps, stretch side pockets for stashing gear, a wet gear pocket in case you get caught in a deluge, an internal pocket for valuables, a place for your separate hydration system, and an organiser pocket for smaller items.

A functional top loading pack for longer day hikes, the Future 24 SL provides support and ventilation wherever your adventure takes you.
