Details

Extract a delicious brew even when you're on a lightweight trip with the innovative Nanopresso from Wacaco. This design is ergonomic and lightweight, so it sits comfortably in your hand and fits in well with the rest of your gear. This espresso maker is operated by hand and can reach a maximum of 18 bars of stable pressure during the extraction process to produce high-quality espresso. The water tank in this unit can hold up to 80ml of water and the efficient filter design also takes a few seconds of maintenance. To use it, add finely ground coffee to the filter basket, tamp it, screw it on the main body, add boiling water, screw the body onto the water tank, unlock the piston, pump it to build pressure, and voila! Your espresso is ready to drink. The compact Nanopresso from Wacaco means that you don't have to forego a quality espresso, even on a lightweight adventure. Hand powered Holds up to 80ml of water Ergonomic and compact design Capable of reaching a maximum of 18 bar/261 PSI of pressure to extract coffee Components of the portafilter are easily separated for deep cleaning Comes with built-in espresso cup, filter basket, scoop, brush
