Details

The four-in-one design of the Ultra-Sil Nano Tarp Poncho from Sea to Summit will shield you from the rain on your lightweight adventures.

You can use this versatile design as a raincoat, a pack cover, a ground sheet or a tarp as it's made from 15D Ultra-Sil Nano fabric which is siliconised so that the surface won't wet out. This tarp poncho is also double stitched and tape seamed to guard against leaks. When you're wearing it as a poncho, it's roomy enough to accommodate a large backpack and when you're wearing it alone you can raise the hem with the rear drawcord. It's also got a three panel, ergonomic hood with a brim to shield your face, and the sides snap together for rain protection.

When you need to use it as a tarp, the guy attachment points allow you to convert it into a shelter. The adaptable Ultra-Sil Nano Tarp Poncho from Sea to Summit provides you with all-around rain protection on the trail.
