Details

With a slimline fit, the benefits of a suitcase, plus the easy carrying of a backpack, the AViANT Access Pro 55 SL will keep you company on your next global adventure. This bag features a slimline fit, so it has a shorter back length making it more comfortable for those with a smaller frame. It's got a back system with ergonomically shaped padding, and a lightweight flexible spring steel frame that provides tension for the back mesh. It opens up like a suitcase so accessing the main compartment is a breeze, and has internal compression straps to keep your clothes from moving around. The removable bag sections off your dirty laundry or footwear while the front access and four grab handles make it easy to use. The integrated cover allows you to stow the backpack straps away for protection in baggage handling. This design also comes with a daypack for shorter trips, which has a padded laptop compartment for convenience. On your next travel expedition, pack your gear into the versatile hybrid AViANT Pro 55 SL from Deuter. Slimline fit with shorter back length Hybrid suitcase/backpack design Stowable contact back system Contact back system with spring steel frame Separate bag for shoes or dirty clothes Full suitcase-style opening Internal compression straps or clothes Lockable sliders for security Removable daypack with padded laptop compartment
