Details

If you always end up getting your feet wet on your outdoor expeditions, then the lightweight Hurricane Drift Men's Sandals from Teva will be your partners in crime this summer. These sandals are a great alternative to thongs or flip flops as they're just as light but provide more support and structure. They have an injection moulded silhouette that provides your feet with comfort, with an easy hook and loop closure so you can get a perfect fit, which also helps get them on and off without any dramas. As a bonus, if the Hurricane Drift Sandals fall off your feet mid-adventure, they're so light that they'll float with you down the river! Lightweight yet supportive Injection moulded silhouette for comfort Hook and loop closure Easy to get on and off Float in water Ideal camp sandal for trekking
