Details

The three season, women's specific Angel Fire from Marmot is the reliable sleeping bag to keep you snug on all kinds of adventures. The Angel Fire has a women's specific fit, so it has more insulation in key areas to keep you warm. The certified 650 fill power down is treated with a down defender treatment which will add extra protection from moisture when you're sleeping in wet environments. This bag tapers at the foot like a traditional mummy bag but is more spacious around the torso for your sleeping comfort. EN tested for reliability, the Angel Fire has a temperature rating of -4°C. Your head will be cosy thanks to the multi-baffle hood, while the anatomically designed footbox increases warmth around your feet. The full length locking YKK two-way zipper keeps the warmth in, while the anti-snap slider reduces fabric snagging. You can also keep a head torch or other essentials close in the internal stash pocket. Suitable for 3 season use, the Angel Fire from Marmot provides women's specific comfort and warmth when you're out in the field. Women's specific fit - more insulation in key areas Certified 650 fill power down Down Defender treatment improves water resistance in wet conditions Anatomically designed footbox increases warmth Full length locking YKK two-way zipper with anti-snap slider EN 13537 temperature tested Down filled collar with easy access draw cord Multi-baffle hood with draw cord Internal stash pocket Two hang loops Stuff and storage sack included
