Compasses still hold a place in navigating the bush. They don't rely on batteries or satellite connectivity. They are an important failsafe for every kit. And a decent map compass needn't be expensive. Enter the Elemental Deluxe Map Compass.

Ideal for those starting their hiking career, Scouts, or weekend orienteering, the Elemental Deluxe features a 360° rotating, liquid filled dial and a transparent baseplate with metric and imperial ruler markings. A magnifier makes reading those topographical maps a little easier.
