Details

With hard anodised saucepans and frypan, the Trangia 27-7 Cooker System offers the ultimate balance between price and durability for hiking and trekking.

The hard anodised cooking and eating surfaces are not only easier to clean, more resistant to scratching and wear and enhances the corrosion resistance of the material, whilst regular ultralight aluminium is used for the windshields to keep the price down. Easy to use and set up - the 27-7 comes with two saucepans, and a frypan, so you aren't limited to rehydrated meals. It also comes with a pot grip, which provides an effective way to handle this system without burning your hands.

This stove has a two-part windshield for keeping your flame safe from the bitterly cold wind, and an easy to light spirit burner with a simmer ring to control and extinguish the flame. Simple, reliable and made with an eye for quality - the Trangia 27-7 lightweight aluminium stove system is perfect for the minimal hiker or couple.
